

Workers in Bolton Notch Cut

Bolton Notch State Park, Bolton, CT

Shaped by the outflow of glacial melting, Bolton Notch forms a throughway between the Connecticut River valley and the surrounding higher ground. Many Native American artifacts have been found in the surrounding area, showing the rich history of this location. Today, hiking trails crisscross the park. This landmark road cut once took what is now the Hop River Trail through rock layers that form the "Notch".